

Natural Texture

- They belong to natural elements, like the skin of an elephant, the cortex of a tree or the surface of a rose Patel.

- Examples:

Artificial Texture

- The surface of any object made by us: steel, paper, different kinds of fabrics. Artificial textures are created and designed by human beings for a specific purpose to give a sense of volume.
- Examples:

